PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Dr. Jones is an associate Professor in the College of Physical Activity and Sports Sciences; Department of Sport Studies, and teaches in the undergraduate and graduate curriculum. His specializations include: Sport Management Processes, UG and MS, Sport Marketing, UG, Capstone UG, and Issues in Sport Studies. He additionally recruits and supports online master's students, sponsors the undergraduate sport management majors club, and supervises 35 advisees in the Sport Management program.

Dr. Jones is the founder and Executive Director of Youth Enrichment Services Inc. (1994-present), a self-funded, non-profit youth, sport, academic, and career teen mentoring organization whose mission is to provide socially and economically disadvantaged young people opportunities to obtain success through non-formal education. YES also successfully operates a Juvenile Diversion Program for 10-14 year old adjudicated youth living in Allegheny County. YES has won numerous national, state, and local awards for its program success, most recently a $125,000 Annie E. Casey Grant to conduct a research project designed to evidence its program models and move them towards policy status.

Furthermore, Dr. Jones has extensive international experience. He is the progenitor of ISMC, International Sport Management Consortium; this group of experts has extensive experience and interest in advancing sport management scholarship, business opportunities, and partnerships mainly in East Africa. Dr. Jones has helped create the African Sport Management Association, (ASMA), whose specific goals are to advance the economy of sport in Africa via regulation and certification of sports agents who visit the Continent to export the talented footballers, and marathoners. This is a multimillion dollar industry that is growing rapidly. Sport for entertainment, and commerce in Africa is the next Nexus for sport managers.

Lastly, Dr. Jones is helping to design and establish the (JASM) Journal of African Sport Management Association, which when published will be a practitioner and research-based publication that can possibly inform and empower local African coaches, managers, athletes, and businesses to understand the growth of sport and the needed regulation and expertise to institutionalize the sports agency, certification, academic credentialing of those professionals who oversee, and direct policy for sport in various African countries. Dr. Jones has hosted visiting scholars from Nairobi (Kenyatta University, Uganda, (Kymbago, University), Benin, and Abuja, Nigeria. Dr. Jones has some experience in China having traveled on two separate occasions to participate as an invited lecturer to Shanghai, Macau, and Hong Kong. His earlier collaborations with UPEL University in Maracay, Venezuela, created the opportunity for Rosa Lopez, D'Amico, and International Sport Management scholar, to join the Sport Management faculty as a lecturer.
